Imagine you are directing this opening scene. You need to focus the audience's interest on the new story after the highly theatrical Induction. Talk together about how you might do this. Some directors make lines 1-45 funny. Find at least three points where you would attempt to make the audience laugh aloud.